ABSTRACT

This paper discusses the common errors in English punctuation which are always found in daily writing. The writer discusses the basic ways to use punctuation in English daily writing.

Based on the result of the writer's study, she analyses the students' ability in using punctuation in English daily writing and finds the common punctuation errors that students usually make in their English daily writing.

This study is intended to give students and the readers a proper and good understanding of the correct ways to use punctuation marks and to know the common mistake which are always faced in English daily writing, so that they can to minimize their errors.